QUALITY CONSTRUCTION

The latest in technology, construction and craftsmanship goes into every Apollo Jetted Bathtub. Only the finest materials, fixtures and pumps in the industry are used to ensure years of trouble-free service. Apollo Jetted bathtubs are designed with three key elements of construction: framing, water lines, and the acrylic.

Apollo's unique framing system ensures an easy installation. The custom engineered frame requires no prep-work and can be immediately ready for tile or other surround material. The framing system gives the bathtub structural stability and simplifies installation.

The next key element in designing great jetted bathtubs is our plumbing system. Our rigid plumbing ensures no water leakage, sagging water pipes and that the tub is self-draining preventing stagnant water from collecting in the pipes.

The most important key element in building a quality, long lasting jetted tub is the tub shell structure. Our jetted tubs are built and reinforced with an ABS-backed, high quality acrylic. The acrylic is reinforced with a specially formulated bonding agent that prevents the tub from cracking. These unique construction elements combined with one of the best warranties industry, will provide any Apollo Spas Jetted Bathtub owner with peace-of-mind for years to come.
